Simultaneous interpreting into national languages:

Part 1: Development – But What Kind?

- What are we, humans for?
- What is the importance of time?
- Why do we create?
- What is the development of mankind about?
- Material vs. spiritual progress?
- Leadership but towards what?

Guy
Consolmagno

Art B.
Chmielewski

Part 2: The New Humanism: New Economy, AI, Brotherhood

Development, but what kind? Value Economy, “Doughnut Economy”

– How to create a distributive, regenerative economy that lifts people out of poverty but avoids the trap of environmental harm? We need to restructure the patterns that guide us in the economy, inspire us to care for the environment and the poor. The value of non-monetary relationships as well as the contribution of civil society to wealth creation. It is about an economy geared not only towards growth and profit, but one that asks itself how it can be tailored to helping people participate fully in society and development. How will AI impact our lives?
