Warsaw is a scientific, cultural, political and economical center on the European scale. Though full of architectural phenomena, like Royal Castle Curia Maior, Zygmunt's Column and Palace of the Four Winds, its green gardens can sink in ones memory. Warsaw is also known as the "phoenix city", due to the fact its been rebuilt numerous times throughout its history. The turbulent history of the city has imprinted itself unto Warsaw's varied architecture style. Most of the sites were reconstructed, though some architecture from the 19th century had been preserved.
